THE LA PLATA INAUGURATION

To-day the joy bells of La Plata ring their merriest chime, and the new capital of the province is at last ushered into a political existence. The event is one of no ordinary importance, and pregnant with consequences which perhaps, few of us contemplate. We view the question on this festive day only on its brightest side, and hope that as the years roll on La Plata will grow in population, trade, and commerce.

Governor Rocha, the founder of the new capital, has had so many difficulties to overcome, so many prejudices to combat, so many interests to consult, that his role will form perhaps one of the most remarkable chapters in River Plate history. Three hundred years have passed since the morning that Garay rowed his boat up the Riachuelo. Had fortune been more propitious to the Spaniard, his little boat would have gone with the current and entered Ensenada, the natural and proper harbor for Buenos Aires; but the Fates ordained it otherwise, and events which few could foresee and none control carry this morning 2,000 of the citizens to a feast which is the realization of a mighty dream, and a new starting point for the country.

Since the days of Herodotus no man has built and founded a city and a capital in shorter time than Gov. Rocha, and although millions have been spent in the Herculean task, and Alexander himself would have succumbed under so many difficulties, the work is at last finished. The new Empire City is a reality; it floats this morning its infant banners to the breeze; may they never be hauled down, and never be waved save in liberty's cause.

Cities, like individuals, are subject to troubles, accidents, and adversities and we in our own time have witnessed the destruction of one of the world's most thriving cities in a single night, from an accident that no foresight could prevent. Mrs. O'Leary's cow was the confessed and admitted cause of the annihilation of Chicago. The catastrophe is so fresh to all our memories that it suggests to us the great precautious necessary in the new provincial capital, composed as it is of so many wooden houses, and in the vicinity of so many cows. La Plata, which we to-day inaugurate, has, as we are informed, already cost the country one thousand millions of paper money, which although at first sight may appear an extravagant sum spent in the realization of a mere political idea, will on closer study be considered a small item compared with the destinies which that idea covers.

Let us give to La Plata the broadest expanse of that idea, the fullest political essence of a move which is to endow the land not only with a new city, but a capacious port. The River Plate grows so fast that we for one believe this new capital and new port of a higher import than mere political convenience; already the population of La Plata is marked at 30,000, and before another three months are over, when all the various departments of Government are dully installed and the employees domiciled in the new city, its population will be certainly double that number, which will give it precedence of Rosario in point of population.

If the town of La Plata is a political necessity, certainly its port, Ensenada, is a commercial one. We have the trade of Buenos Aires at this moment completely blocked up for want of more harbour accommodation, for want of lighters, of deposits, etc.; in fact, our trade has grown too much for us. The Riachuelo may in time become something, but at present it is but a mere make-shift; and marching as the country is at present, the new port of Ensenada will meet the want so much felt, and enable vessels of large tonnage and heavy cargoes to escape the inconveniences which at present surround that branch of our trade.

Let us all hope, therefore, that the inaugural fete this morning will prove the harbinger of an improved political as commercial situation. Rivalry there need be none between the two cities, since our trade, import and export, will have stomach for both, and in a very few years not even the three ports, Buenos Aires, Riachuelo and Ensenada, will be sufficient for our ships, our steamers and our merchandise. Governor Rocha, in carrying out this great scheme, has had a very hard road to travel; but his iron determination has carried him over everything, and whether with the mantle of Alexander or the vestments of a Melchisedeck, the Governor has carried his point and won victory where almost everyone prognosticated defeat.

DEATH OF MRS. H. A. GREEN.

With profound regret we announce the accidental death of Mrs. H. A. Green, at her residence, near Flores. It appears the deceased lady had been for some time in very poor health, suffering from an attack of the kidneys. Her doctor had prescribed certain remedies, and on Saturday night, by a fatal mistake, she drank off a lotion instead of the draught, which was in the bottle alongside her bed. She at once told her daughter of the dreadful mistake, and Dr. Lanus was sent for; but two hours elapsed before the doctor came, and the subtle ingredients of the powerful lotion completely overcame her. She sank into a dull, heavy state of insensibility, from which she never awoke, and passsd away, without an effort, on Sunday evening.

Her funeral took place yesterday afternoon, at the British Cemetery, attended by an immense concourse of friends.

Deceased was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. Lumb, and widow of Mr. H. A. Green, who died abont two years ago. She leaves a numerous family to deplore her loss, and some of the first families in this city will be thrown into mourning by her death.

THE TONKIN WAR.

We give hereunder a summary of the French campaign in China. It seems the French are carrying everything so before them in China, that soon Europe will be left without a pound of tea, and as for South America, there will be nothing for us but 'mate amargo' when the French enter Pekin:—

The telegram from our Correspondent in Tonquin, and General Millot's official despatch, which we publish this morning throw additional light upon the operations which ended in the capture of Bac-Ninh, announced in the telegram we published yesterday. The French advanced in two divisions. General Negrier moved from Haidzuong, while General Millot proceeded from Hanoi. The latter general appears to have attacked, with part of his division, five of the forts and villages on the direct road, probably to deceive the enemy, while the real advance was made by a more southerly route along the Rapid Canal, which connects the river on which Hanoi stands with that on which Bac-Ninh is situated. Bac-Ninh was consequently approached from the side exactly opposite to that on which the French were expected. "The enemy, finding their position completely turned," says General Millot, "took to flight." The Chinese, however, who possess splendid fortifications on the hills, had offered no resistance to the operations on the Hanoi road, which was defended only by the Black Flags. This success of the French is the more remarkable because it has always been represented that the Imperial troops would defend Bac-Ninh and that the capture of Sontay or Bac-Ninh would be regarded as equivalent to a declaration of war against China. The Chinese, however, are in no hurry to embroil themselves actively with France. Sontay was taken three month ago, and Bac-Ninh has now fallen, but there seems to be no likelihood that China will treat the latter conquest more seriously than it did the former. China is, in fact, playing a waiting game, on the reckoning, probably, that the French will get tired of a contest in which much is to be lost and very little to be gained. Indeed, the French have probably done nearly all that they will attempt in the present season.

A telegram from Paris which we publish this morning indicates that there is a desire in that capital to push on further. The Temps, taking up the unfortunate phrase which led the Government of Lord Beaconsfield on to the last Afghan war, says that the occupation of Thai Nguyen and Lang Son are needful to the establishment of a "scientific frontier." The former of these places is some thirty miles up the river on which Bach-Ninh stands, while the latter is more than twice as far on the road which leads direct to the Chinese frontier. Lang Son is indeed within a few miles of the frontier, and commands the road. It is unfortunate that these further enterprises should be suggested just when France has attained the objects which were long declared to be necessary. The advance to Lang Son may almost compel China to take a more active part in the contest, and might be regarded as evidence of a determination to force the Imperial Government to declare war. France has now got the two points which long formed the bone of contention. The French Government said that the possession of Sontay and Bac-Ninh was needful to the honour of France, and China seemed disposed to make their possession equally needful to the honour of the Empire. The quarrel is now decided in favour of France, and to push it further is to incur great risk of the rupture which China has shown much desire to avoid. It seems likely that some delay will be enforced by the climate. General Millot has been three months in arranging the successful operation at Bac-Ninh, and as the rainy season has set in, he may be even longer in pushing on to the further points now indicated. France meanwhile has done quite enough to enable her to bring the whole dispute to an end with honour to her arms and great relief to Europe, which dreads a war between China and a Great European Power.

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent.)

April 11th.

A Paris paper published an article entitled "The Tehuelches, and the Conquest of the Chaco," which was evidently a squib, and rather clever too. The papers here have taken it au serieux, and denounce the ignorance of European writers in reference to the countries of South America. Thinking that the squib in question might excite the risibility of Standard subscribers, and consequently improve their digestion, I translate it.

"EXPEDITIONS AND CONQUESTS.

"On a former occasion, writing on that beautiful country called the Argentine Republic, situated in the heart of Brazil, we gave an account of a famous military expedition that started from Montevideo under the orders of the President of that country, General Roca. The object of this expedition was to reduce the savage Tuhuelche nations—mixture of Araucanos and Tobas—a warlike and sanguinary race which had never been conquered.

"According to all probabilities, the Tuhuelches are descended in a direct line from the Aztecs, which blended with the Incas and Guaranis, inhabited, at the time of the discovery of the New Continent, the great Steppes of the Andine range of mountains. They speak the Quichoca language, and physically are much like the Chinese. The architectural remains that are to be found throughout the Valley of the Rio Negro are evidence of the ancient civilization and power of the Tuhuelches, and are in every sense similar to the ancient monuments in Mexico. In every direction are to be found pyramids and superb temples full of strange hieroglyphics which have never yet been deciphered.

"The Tuhuelches constitute a homogeneous and powerful nationality, which keeps up a continual and active warfare with the neighbouring tribes, amongst which we would mention the Porteños, the Sanjuaninos, the Mendocinos and Puntanos. These tribes of Indians are said to have a tail three feet long, and the Tuhuelches designate them all under the generic denomination of Macacos.

"As the Tuhuelches in the repeated invasions, on several occasions, penetrated as far as the flourishing city of Asuncion, General Sarmiento, the Dictator of Paraguay, resolved to send an army of twenty-five thousand men under the command of the abovementioned General Roca, to bring the Indians under subjection. The Tuhuelches made an energetic resistance and the siege of Choelechoel lasted nine years, for which reason it is called modern Troy. The conquerors, infuriated with such prolonged resistance, butchered the whole of the inhabitants, fifty thousand of whom—children, women and old people—perished miserably. The gunboat Villarino distinguished itself at the siege, destroying the tower of the Cathedral of Choelechoel. The fine towns of Curumalan, Trenquelauxen and Paso Hondo were reduced to ashes and three thousand Brazilians killed in them. By these barbarous proceedings the Tuhuelches were at last dominated and their principal chiefs, whose names were Volpi and Patroni, were conducted to Montevideo, where they were martyrised by the Governor of that island, Dr Barrero.

"The ancient possessions of the Tuhuelches now form a part of the Argentine Republic. Choelechoel has remained in ruins, as an earthquake completed the barbarous handiwork of man. The rest of the country pays a heavy tribute to the Government of Buenos Ayres.

"The Tuhuelches, although very warlike, cultivated the arts and sciences, industries and commerce. Their principal exports were cottof manufactures, Paraguay rum, Tucuman sugar, 'charqui,' or dried been and dry hides They were distinguished for their scientific attainments and love of music, and at the present time there is a number of Tuhuelche professors who play in the orchestra of the Colon Theatre in Rio Janeiro.

But the Argentines are not satisfied with the conquest of the Tehuelches They are now about to initiate a campaign against the inhabitants of the Gran Chaco, the capital of which is Santa Fe, situated on the Pilcomayo, on the slopes of the volcanic mountain of Chimborazo. The Chaco is very like Tonkin in its climate, which is excessively hot. In it are to be found all kinds of tropical fruits. There are great forests of the Bread fruit tree, cocoa nuts, guayabas and algorrobos, the fruit of the last being the principal food of the lazy natives. The women pass their time reclined in hammocks, beautifully made with bright colored and aromatic filaments, and do nothing but suck at a pipe they call 'mate.'

The population of the Chaco is calculated at ten millions; its frontiers to the North are our Guayana, on the South the Tierra del Fuego, on the East by Chile, and on the West by Brazil. Its extension is three times that of France. Its principal cities are Chaco, Santa Fe, Humaita, and Misiones. The population is disseminated in small towns or villages, called estancias or ranchos. The Chaco Indians manufacture the amacahuita, zarzaparrilla, the extract of quinine, syrup of cacao, and other medicinal preparations. They are very fond of champagne and others of our best wines.

The Chaco Indians have always been troublesome to our neighbors the Cordovexes, whom they have often placed under heavy contribution. As the Cordovexes are a reduced tribe of Indians, under the jurisdiction of Buenos Aires, and paying tribute, the President of that city has decided on punishing the Chacoites, and bombarding Santa Fe, their chief city. With this object they are preparing a military expedition which will be placed under the command of Brigade General Benjamin Victorica, who is a native of the Chaco, but has lately been baptised by the Nuncio Apostolico Matera, and made a Christian. The General will have under his orders ten battalions of infantry, seven regiments of cavalry with six batteries. His plan is to lay siege to Santa Fe, by land and sea. It is here the King Aurelio I resides, who has for allies the Chilenos and Araucanos.

To get to the Chaco, General Victorica will be obliged to pass the Straits of Magellan, for which purpose he has a numerous squadron amongst which are the ironclad Rosetti, the cutter Santa Cruz, and the steel clad ship Ponton Vanguardia, that flies the admiral's pennant. The Vanguardia was built in the arsenals of Chivilcoy, and was launched in 1858. It is a ship that would be a credit to any navy in the world. They have put new armour on her, which makes her very like our Richelieu. The squadron will soon be strengthened by the Admiral Brown, now lying at Rio Cuarto, the torpedo boat Maipu, which is undergoing repairs at San Jose de Flores, and the bombarding ship Pilcomayo, which bears the name of the river that bathes the walls of Santa Fe.

Santa Fe, the capital of the Chacoite empire, is a fortress of third class, and will offer a tenacious resistence to the besiegers; Aurelio I has placed chains across the entrance of the port, and has besides sunk several vessels in the harbour. The fortress is well armed, but the cannon are of brass and of an old pattern The Chacoites have placed fifty thousand under arms, but what arms! bows and arrows, clubs, lazos, boleadoras and slings. A disciplined army will soon vanquish these savage hordes that enter into battle shouting and whooping to scare their enemies. The most formidable part of their forces are the cavalry, mounted on pampa horses, without bridle or saddle.

The expedition will start from Buenos Aires as soon as the rainy season sets in, when the atmosphere cools off a little. At this time of the year the heat is excessive, and each soldier would be obliged to encumber himself with a mosquito net, and a large palm fan, as is the custom with the natives of the Chaco.

We will keep our readers informed on the progress of this important campaign, the result of which will probably be the submission of ten millions of barbarians to the Argentine Republic.

Dr. Gache, of the Circulo Medico Argentino, has proposed to that learned body to form an Argentine Cremation Society, and apply to Congress for powers. There will certainly be a stiff breeze over Dr. Gache's proposal: yet cremation is slowly but surely making headway in Europe, and America is bound to follow.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

FINANCIAL AND GENERAL GOSSIP

March 13th.

So much gold has been pouring into the Bank coffers from America and other places that the directors have thought proper to reduce the rate of interest to 3 per cent; but I doubt whether reductions in the bank rate in these days make much difference. They have certainly not the effect they had in former times. Since 1881 speculative business has been completely checked in the stock market, and brokers and jobbers have only been preying on one another, or bearing good stocks like Brazilians unsuccessfully. Foreign stocks this afternoon were little if anything better than before the bank rate was altered, and it is evident their price depends on political as well as other and more mysterious causes, and also on the manner in which some of them are held. You often speak in glowing terms of the present prosperity of the River Plate countries, and you naturally wish us to believe that their credit is good for any amount in London. The fact is, it is not. The prosperity is known and is looked upon encouragingly, but there are certain limits to the very best credit, and it is always bad policy to push an advantage. Four or five years of steady work and reduced expenditure is what the River Plate requires to put her balance at her English bankers on the right side. It is quite evident that a supplementary credit in Paris, Antwerp, or Hamburg is of small moment. The Uruguay Unifieds keep creeping up and approaching 55, which may ultimately be accepted as the typical figure; but no one supposes that it is the good British public, the investing widow and parson, who got so woefully bitten a few years ago in foreign securities, who are bidding either for Egyptian or Uruguay Unifieds or any other but colonial and Home stocks. All speculation in foreign securities is at an end; and it is not an easy thing now to get a good pull out of syndicateships. There are certain small matters which a country like yours will be constantly enabled to offer and that require no 'bush' and tell their own tale. For instance, at the present moment there is a syndicate being formed in London to buy up the Government concession of the Lobos seal fisheries. But this is an affair of £18,000 to £20,000 or even less; and if properly managed might be settled in a few hours, for there are people in London who know the value of a seal skin, and all about the profits of the fisheries at Lobos. I see that the Argentine Government intends renting its Chaco lands. But the term proposed—8 years—appears to be absurdly short, and makes only a warming-pan of the tenant. Few good men one would think, will apply on such terms. Still the tendency of the measure is gratifying; and perhaps in course of time your Governments will be able to put up their fisheries or railways, or ports, or whatever they have to offer, to public tenders instead of following the system of "concessions." I am aware that in the British Colonies Colonial Governments grant "concessions" for railways, for example; but not to irresponsible individuals who run home to London with their 'concessiones' in their pockets, to throw them on the market to be scrambled for by brokers, so-called financial agents and promoters.

I see that Messrs. Forrest & Co. of Millwall, who have been so successful in the building of life-boats, are about to launch a lighter, the 'Rosita', for Messrs. Fynn Butler & Co. of Buenos Aires, to carry sand and stone from Colonia for your City Improvements in Buenos Aires or in La Plata. The 'Rosita' and another, the 'Isidora,' will sail under the Oriental flag. Others building for Mr Iliffe, will sail under the Argentine flag.

The newly appointed Resident Minister to the Republic of Uruguay, Mr. W. Gifford Palgrave, is still in London. He leaves in La Plata on the 9th prox. Mr. Palgrave is sure to be popular amongst serious men of business in Montevideo. He is a savant and master they say of thirty languages, a kind of amalgam of the late Mr Lettsom with Mezzofanti. No "masher" as you may imagine, but one of the fine old school, and still rejoicing in the cut of coat and hat—specially the hat—which must have been in vogue thirty years since and could scarcely have been in the height of fashion even then. You may depend upon it he is of the right kind and thoroughly reliable as Mr Lettsom was. As the late Lord Lytton said of poets, one can say of star-gazers and philologists, their opinions on certain intricate questions of business are of more value than those of men who have been at the desk all their lives. Did not Robert Cecil, Marquess of Salisbury, commonly known here as "Property Bob" tell us only last night, that to speak plainly, we all of us "keep a shop. The landowner keeps a shop where he sells the produce of his soil; the manufacturer keeps a shop where he disposes of the skilled labour of his muscle and his brain?" His lordship probably meant "other people's muscles' and in some instances "other people's brains," but in the main he was right. Astronomers, linguists, and ministers resident or plenipotentiary keep shops and know all about it. The only thing is, that if I read aright the report of the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, resident ministers may do very well as theyare, but the class of men who now form our British Consular body will have to undergo a change. The manufacturers are bent upon imitating the French, Germans and Belgians, and will not be satisfied with the present style of consular reports excellent as many of them are. The consul of the future will be expected to matriculate in British commercial centres and to collect samples and turn his consulate into a little museum of commerce and be ready to answer questions as to patterns, prices, qualities and "threads." Rather hard lines for the consuls; but they will have to do it in the good time coming when poor Mr Gladstone goes and the new regime of shop keeping by all and for all is fairly in swing. The day of our dear old acquaintance Mr. Consul General the Hon. H. H. Demmie is gone for ever.

Poor Toung Taloung is departed. He left the "Zoo" yesterday morning to be shipped in the "Lydian Monarch" for New York. I saw the animal for the first time the day previously, and I must thoroughly confirm the general impression that he was a "sell." Even the pinkey colouring we were told so much about, has vanished, and nothing remains on his otherwise mouse coloured hide but a yellowish dab, mottled with black spots on his forehead such as you often see on a cow's nose. The sleekiness or even silkiness of his skin, his white toes, his greater elegance and grace compared with his companions, the large Indian elephant and the two Africans, would distinguish him at once as a higher bred animal; but that is all you can say of him. His house was lined with green baize by way of distinction; and had it not been for that little attraction I should have passed on without recognising his rank and celebrity. His native attendant, as it was early in the day and the last day of exhibition, instead of being arrayed in jewelled, oriental and sacerdotal habiliments was clothed in slop trowsers pea jacket and billycock hat, and seemed, poor black, to be suffering from our nipping March winds. His nose was tiresome to himself and not pleasant to spectators. The new Mrs Jumbo "Hebe" by name is expected to arrive in November in time for an interesting event to take place in London. Jumbo himself, and Mr Barnum will, it is hoped, also arrive in England about the same period. I send you separately fuller particulars in regard to our expected guests.

George Bubear, the young sculler of Putney, who was put forward to redeem the already tarnished laurels of his country, was thoroughly and disgracefully beaten by the Canadian Champion Wallace Ross of St. John's New Brunswick. The start was from the Star and Garter. Ross overtook Bubear at Hammersmith bridge, and from that moment the Englishmen seemed to cave-in altogether, and Ross won as he liked without question of lengths.

THE DYNAMITE OUTRAGES.

The mysterious explosion which did serious injury to a working man named Randall, at the Salisbury Arms Hotel, Fulham, on Wednesday night, and which was supposed to be caused by dynamite placed there to produce a more serious explosion, is now believed to have been the result of a mischievous prank. The species of cartridge that caused the explosion contained a detonating substance of a powerful nature, and it was intended to be discharged by pulling the ends apart, like a child's cracker.

There are two ways of accounting for the explosion—either the cartridge was so affixed to the door of the urinal which Randall was leaving, that it exploded by the movement of the door pulling the ends asunder; or the man may have had the cartridge in his own hand, and pulled it in ignorance of its dangerous nature. The doctor thinks the latter view more probable. Anyhow the explosion completely shattered the man's thumb and two fingers; but the police are quite satisfied, though four other cartridges were found on the spot, that there was no plot or Fenian outrage intended.

President Arthur's order to all the Government officials to enforce the existing law with regard to the shipping of explosives (says the New York correspondent of the Daily News) meets with daily approval. His assertion that the honour of this nation requires that it should not be open to the imputation, unfounded though it be, of the slightest appearance of tolerating such heinous crimes as those attempted in London, receives special recommendation.

The New York Times says that the President's action expresses the cordial desire of the Government, which is shared by the whole people, to do all that can be done to prevent co-operation in the hideous crimes attempted in England.

The Evening Post says that this action ought to convince the English Government that the American Government are ready to do anything in reason to put a stop to the dynamite outrages.

The law cited in the order was passed in 1865, and was designed to protect travellers as well as steamships and railway companies. It makes it illegal to transport by land or water anything like dynamite on passenger ships or vehicles either between the States or between the States and foreign countries. Transportation by other conveyances is allowed only when the material is packed in non-explosive substances and plainly marked. Violations of this law are to be punished by a fine of not less than a 1,000 or more than 10,000 dollars. In case death is caused by the violation of the law, the crime is declared to be manslaughter, punishable by imprisonment for not less than two years. Dynamite outrages were unknown when the law passed, and its provisions aim directly only at the shipment of dynamite as freight. There is no authorisation to search suspicious persons, and thus detect the presence of infernal machines in personal luggage.

The dynamite party at New York ridicule the report that Tynan is going abroad to assume the charge of operations. Tynan, who is salesman for a liquor house, is at present travelling in New York State on business.

Colonel Majendie yesterday attended at the magazine in the Government Marshes, Woolwich, for the purpose of destroying the parcels of dynamite seized at Charing-cross, Paddington, and Ludgate-hill stations.

THE GREATER EASTER.

Buenos Ayres,
April 13th, 1884.

To the Editors of the Standard.

Gentlemen.

I have just read a strange article with the above heading in the columns of to-day's Herald; and in view of the responsibility that the head of a family incurs in placing within the reach of his household articles of this stamp, uncommented, I feel bound in duty to submit a short criticism, which, being quite unsectarian in character, I hope you will be pleased to publish.

The former part of the article, though vague, is Christian in sentiment, and one is all the less prepared, in consequence, for such startling ideas as are implied in the words in which the author refers to the "Only begotten Son of the Father" as a soul like unto other souls; a soul seen "only once in many centuries," and when he tells us that "the Christs that bestow authority are few," not only begotten.

The second point that startles me is enounced in the following words: "The day is now in its vague dawn, as many think, of a far wider acceptance and extension of the faith of the resurrection than the Christian Church has held or conceived of." Of course this includes the Apostolic Primitive Church and every branch of the church past, present and future.

The third statement that fixes my attention is the author's condemnation of "those traditions of men" which have "belittled and shut up the world-embracing truths and hopes" of the Gospel, for, while I fully agree with the author that man belittles everything of God's that he touches, I can't see what foundation he has for his Greater Easter and Greater Christ, if it be not found in some Greater Tradition; and still more difficult is it for me to see how he can give us this Greater Christ, Greater Easter, and Greater Gospel, without throwing the others overboard; for our Christ only tells us of "false Christs" to come, and our Gospel says: "Gal. i.v. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed."

The writer further tells us that the Christ we worship "looked for a wider day, a fairer and sublimer light, etc., The writer, though evidently a clergyman, has forgotten the words: "I am the true light that lighteth every man that cometh into the world," and "I am the beginning and the end; the first and the last."

The author further tells us that the light of Christianity is "not enough to show all the world that God and truth and duty and the hope of immortality are the same for all;" and yet Peter as well as Socrates had "glimpses of this day." The evident conclusion one must draw from this statement is that Peter in his long intercourse with the only begotten Son of the Father and light of the world, learned as much as Socrates did while meditating in the company of Xantippe.

Finally, while we Christians, Brahmins and Mohammedans grope our way in common darkness, guided by the waning light of our three prophet founders, co-equal in their failing fortunes, the Reverend author brings us knowledge, not of an awakening to purity in doctrine and practice, and to faithfulness in duty on the eternal basis of the christianity of Jesus Christ; but on a basis which, fortunately, will not be pagan, nor yet will it be "solely Christian," but broadly human and therefore truly divine"! The glorious Son of God needeth help from this coming Messiah, lest his work perish with that of Brahma and Mohammed, for it is not "truly divine."

Surely, Messrs. Editors of the Standard such statements should not be allowed to pass unchallenged by men of any Christian denomination whatever.

Yours,

W.D.J.

EDITOR'S TABLE

Sunday was by no means "the correct thing," from a weather point of view, for Easter. The morning was threatening, the forenoon worse, and in the early afternoon down came the buckets in truly tremendous fashion and spoiled everybody's amusement for the day. It rained all over the camp also. At sunset the western sky presented a most strange yet beautiful appearance—all "dead gold" colour. Looking from a high roof, the domes of all the city churches had a most singular appearance; they looked ten times their ordinary size, and of all colours. The evening was very cold, and interfered with the attendance at the theatres.

This is the day of days at La Plata, and 2,900 people will sit down to dinner in their best clothes, to celebrate the removal of the Provincial authorities to the new seat of Government. Nobody's appetite will be a bit the less keen from the fact that the said removal is as yet purely partial as excepting subordinate officials, nobody has the slightest intention of moving out to a place where as yet there are not half-a-dozen decent houses, of wood or any other material, to lodge families accustomed to every luxury. However, we hope all will eat, drink and be merry to-day, and that there will be less of a hitch than at the famous feed given to celebrate the laying of the first stone of the new capital. The Provincial Government has decreed that to-day is "feriado" all over the province. There will be acrobatic performances, fireworks and all sorts of things to amuse the visitors. The special train for the invited guests leaves the Plaza Constitucion at 9,40 a.m., and will return at 5 p.m.

The Republica says that an enterprising North American is about to ask the Municipality to let him open a rat-pit in this city. We cannot endorse his petition, but would be glad to see him tackle the rats in a more legitimate way, as no city in the world is so infested with this vermin as Buenos Aires although Mr. Bennett's invaluable "Rough on Rats" helps greatly to thin their obnoxious numbers. Rat-catching ought to pay well in this city, to keep glove-makers in skins. Half the costly Parisian "kids" worn in this country are made of rat-skins, and Europcan rats are mere Lilliputians compared with their Argentine cousins.

Yesterday was a "pet-day"—too beautiful to last. The streets were crowded all day with dames and damsels on shopping intent. A fine autumn day in this country, like yesterday, is not to be equalled in any other part of the globe.

Yesterday the President of the Republic returned from his Easter vacation. There is a press of business accumulated this last week at the Government House to be despatched, so that they will have their hands full.

Mr. Victorica, head of the Oficina de Tierras y Colonias, has given an official denial to the rumour about the desertion of two colonists from the Villa Libertad Colony, in Entre Rios. He says that the colonists, instead of having any reason for leaving, enjoy, on the contrary, all the blessings of peace and prosperity, and are actually rolling in wealth. Our colleague, the Patria Argentina, who has published this, says that whether the denial be true or false it is, at all events official, and as such indisputable. This ought to be rather a comforting statement for our rulers.

The Mint is at present at a standstill, at least as far as gold is concerned. This article has given out, and whilst awaiting a further remittance from London, one and two cent. copper pieces are being struck off.

Moving is the order of the day. The members of the Town Council moved into their new premises in the Colon Theatre building yesterday. The Lord Mayor has now the old Town Hall all to himself.

It makes people stare to read that 20,000 !!! ball cartridges were fired in and around the city by way of rejoicing at the end of Lent, the death of Judas etc. As there are no blank cartridges to be had for revolvers, bullets are coolly fired in the air, to fall where they list. Several people were wounded, and hundreds had miraculous escapes. Crackers in the crowded streets are bad enough; but bullets? It is almost incredible. Fortunately, they wont believe a word of it in Europe, or they would never lend us another rap, on the plea that we are all lunatics to allow such doings.

A new York colleague remarks:—"If Alfred Tennyson, Baron d'Eyncourt of Aldworth, could see his alleged portrait published in some of the American newspapers, instead of becoming a peer he would disappear altogether and ask what these honors are Aldworth, anyhow?

General Osborn, U. States Minister, returned yesterday from a short but very pleasant sojourn at the estancia of the Murphy family at Lobos. The General and the Rev. Dr. Thompson start to-day for Mr. McCullagh's estancia in the Banda Oriental.

The famous Tucuman 'caudillo' Jose Maria del Campo, has gone to glory. He was found dashed to pieces at the foot of a precipice. He was at one period of his life in the Church.

The city was shocked yesterday by the announcement of the suicide of Dr Roque Suarez, the well-known lawyer. At noon he was found seated in an arm-chair in his room, with his brains scattered over his coat; in his right hand was a revolver. Mr Rodo, the escribano, who has his office in the same house in Calle Peru, was the first to discover the condition of the ill-fated gentleman, whom he at first thought asleep. Although there are several offices in the house, only one escribano's clerk heard the fatal shot. The cause of the sad tragedy was not published yesterday. Dr Suarez was much respected; he owned a large estancia at Bahia Blanca, and also valuable property at Campana. He was 32 years of age, and only one year married.

Rather a curious accident occurred at La Plata, where three Italian labourers, working on the new Mortgage Bank edifice there, came to grief through a part of the masonry coming down by the run. One had his head smashed to pieces, the second suffered in the ribs and spine, but the third escaped with some slight bruises.

Our enterprising colleagues the Courrier and Diario have purchased the right to publish in the Plate Daudet's latest novel 'Saffo.' As English readers have no fancy for such unhealty mental food every morning, we are saved the cost of providing it for them; but our colleagues deserve every credit for their go-aheadism.

The New York World, to hand by the mail, gives some truly abominable wood-cuts in illustration of Her Majesty's last book—the Queen herself, Princess Beatrice, John Brown, John Brown's legs, etc, etc. They are simply unworthy of the Police News, and the World itself publishes the following in reference to them:—"A gentleman of refinement named Woodworth, of No. 21 Barclay street, objects to the cuts which occasionally embellish The World. He speaks of them as "engraved on a brick-bat with an oyster knife." Mr. Woodworth is quite right. There is a good deal of the same style of engraving in Buenos Aires.

"A VOICE FROM OUT THE WATERS."

To the Editor of the Standard.

Sir,

In the Standard of the 9th inst., in the article headed as above, your printer makes me say a track of country, instead of a tract of country; and banks up an immense body of water, instead of backs up. Who ever heard of a track of country, or a bank of water since Moses had to bank up the Red Sea for want of transports to pass his army? There are other mistakes, such as the want of a small word and a letter here and there.

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in stating that I cured all my flocks this season with the "Golden Leaf Extract" and found the result highly satisfactory, and in future do not intend to use any other dip.

After first using the "Golden Leaf," I found it such a perfect cure for Scab that I recommended it to several of my neighbours who have all proved it equally good.

Yours truly

Cedulas A	101
Cedulas E	89½
Cedulas F	86
National Bank Shares....	138
Nat. Bank Certificados..	50 o/o	prem.

The ring opened this morning with a strong demand for National Bank Shares. Late on Saturday evening, and when the liquidation room was nearly empty, two small purchases were made at 138, and prices held at this figure this morning. Sales were made for May at 140, which we believe is the very highest price this stock has as yet touched, but if the large holders do not sell, and, as is rumoured, hypothecate in Europe another ten thousand shares, it is every way probable that we shall see prices reach the figure which President Roca has fixed for them for next year, namely 100 premium. Before the bell rang the close of the ring 1,350 shares were called for at 139, which start ed the market. The party who called for these shares paid a small fine a few days ago for the privilege, which he now exercises t, the no small inconvenience of the seller.

Cedulas are up to the skies; it was known that on Saturday a clerk of the Hypothecary Bank went down to Montevideo with the large shipment of the stock to be placed on board the Galicia in Montevideo, but mortgagors and debtors to the Bank complain of the arts employed to keep up the price of a stock, which, it is the interest of property owners should decline. Series F is now rising fast, and as the market is rid of three millions of floating Cedulas E, the opinion is that Series F will now follow in the same 'senda'; the new Series has of late been held back from the market by a slow despatch at the Bank, but it is probable now that the issue will be on a more liberal scale.

National Bank Certificates rule very upwards; four small lots were sold at 50 prem., but there are buyers now for thousands where a week ago only lots of fifty were saleable, and it is probable that the premium will take another jump up of 10 to 20 o/o before the next call is made.

The following were the sales at the ring during official hours:—
Cedulas—
For cash A 15,000 at 101-100¾-101
For cash E 15,150 at 89½-½-½-½
For April 30th E 80,000 at 89¾-½-⅝
For cash F 27,350 at 86-85⅞-86
For April 30th F 23,000 at 85½-86
Sales, 160,500
National Bank Shares—
For April 30th 1,950 at 138½-½-½-½-½-½
For May 31st 700 at 140-139½-140
Sales, 2,650
National Bank Certificates, 30 o/o paid—
For cash 450 at $45

The week has opened with a special mortality column, and we have to announce the following demises:—
Mrs. H. A. Green, Flores
Mr. Stammer, barrauero, Hamburg
Mrs. Stammer, his wife, Hamburg
Dr. Roque Suarez, lawyer.

It was announced on 'Change that the inauguration of the Bahia Blanca Railway will take place on 25th instant.

The Pomona, spite of the very stormy weather on our South Coast, behaved well; she could not get out of Bahia Blanca before 10th and arrived at Patagones on 11th, and leaves that port for B. Aires on to-morrow. Respecting the Loire, there is nothing known, as the agent has got no telegram, but she is supposed to be in Patagones, or possibly she put into San Blas during the gale being unable to cross the Rio Negro bar. As the telegraph line between this city and Patagones is now in working order it is probable we shall get news to-day or to-morrow of the Loire; she had over 120 passengers on board and 1,000 tons of cargo.

The Bolsa was rife with all sorts of political rumours to-day, which chiefly take their origin from to-morrow's grand inaugural fete at La Plata; that which, however, took most shape is a report of the probable nationalization of the Provincial Bank; a measure very long talked of, but we very much doubt, if it will ever be carried out.

The quarterly returns from the various city banks of their fixed deposits for the purpose of appraising the stamp duty to be paid stood so:—
Carabassa Bank..... 2,027,633 m/n
London & River Plate Bank .. 1,686,815
Italian Bank of River Plate 841,858
English Bank of River Plate .. 372,878

The Diario publishes the following important estancia sale in the partido of Lincoln:—The estancia is called the Aguara, six square leagues, of which 5 wire fenced, 3,000 head cattle, 4,000 sheep, estancia house, puestos, &c., all for the round sum of $2,800,000 %. Messrs. Santiago Buratovich & Co. buyers. Messrs. Cabral Aguirre & Co. sellers.

The special train for La Plata leaves the Plaza Constitucion in the morning at 9.40 a.m.

President Roca returned to-day, at 1 o'clock and was welcomed by a large attendance of friends at the station. Minister Plaza will not return before Wednesday. Mr. H. Duhnkrack of A. C. Link & Co., was welcomed on his return from Montevideo; also Mr. Hughes.

The Antwerp wool auction begins on Wednesday; telegrams are still unfavorable.

The La France sails off 18th inst. and takes a large number of wool artistes back to France, Series A. The Senegal on 24th takes an equally large number of artistes also for France, Series B.

Exchange was done to-day at 5.03, on Antwerp and France. Artiste paper 5.02, France and 5 francs by some of the German and Belgian houses.

Shareholders of the Argentine Gas company complain of the delay in paying the dividend, which although payable in new shares should certainly be distributed before this.

In the liquidation parlor this evening everything ruled up, National Bank Shares closed after a fair amount of business done at 138½ for to-morrow buyers. Series A 101 buyers. Series E 89½ buyers and 86 for Series F buyers.

By the German steamer that sails to-morrow, another batch of Cedulas; about 200,000 Series E, goes to Europe we believe Germany.

At the South Market deposits there was a large display of very good wools and from very distant parts; such heavy arrivals of good wools so late in the season attracts great note and shows how much sheep have increased in the country, the highest price paid 96. A lot 6000 ar. good wool, North deposits, sold from deposit to-day at 86, when sent to deposit in December 95 offered and refused. Very heavy arrivals of cereals at the Plaza Once, place completely enveloped in wheat and maize; telegrams from France give maize at 13 frcs.

Discount brokers offering private money on 'Change. Money much easier at 7 per cent.

1,000 ar. fine wool sold, South Market, at 96, the sister wool of this lot sold last November at 122.

The Vice-President of the Republic and many other distinguished people assist tomorrow at the inauguration of La Plata, which promises to be unusually grand. The question of the Courts and Judges has been settled by the Governor, who insists on all moving out at once to La Plata, and the packing up of the Court etc. has begun.

The poor unfortunate barque M. A. Evans was sold to-day. She fetched together with the cargo of about 330 tons (English) of coal $4,000 m/n. Buyer's name Pedro Ungaro. Our colleagues are mistaken in attributing the loss of this vessel to the negligence of the crew, her wreck is due to other causes as is well known in the Boca.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Town Councillor Julio Nuñez, of San Fernando, has resigned, on the ground that his estimable colleagues are all chronically affected with "no quorum," and have only assembled for business twice since New Year's Day.

The members of the "Rounders' Club" are preparing a soiree for the end of the month. The programme will be shortly published.

Messrs. Landir, and Veiga yesterday opened their Decauville tramway line in La Plata to the public. This is one of the most cheering signs of the progress of the place that we have yet remarked.

Piccolomini, who was an operatic sensation a quarter of a century ago, is now an old woman in very destitute circumstances. Her condition is attributed to her having married an Italian marquis.

A "remate" is held to-night, at 8½ p.m., in the Cigarreria del Trabajo, in connection with the Races in the Hippodrome next Sunday.

All the cranky old tubs in the country are being offered to the Minister of Marine to take the place of the pontoon Vanguardia. H. E. has such an "embarras de richesses" to choose from that he finds it hard to make a selection.

Our Welsh friends at Chupat, while waiting to "strike ile" in the shape of gold and coal, are about to try silk culture, and the National Department of Agriculture will send down the necessary seed for the experiment, which we hope will succeed.

The Capital of Rosario pokes justifiable fun at a crowd of gorgeous but impecunious "mashers" who are up there on the look-out for rich girls as wives. Our colleague says that these fashionably-dressed visitors are so painfully hard-up that dinner is a novelty to them, and a "smile" their usual breakfast.

Dr. Doering, the well-known Cordoba savan, met with a painful accident last week. While travelling on a geological trip on the Santiago del Estero branch of the Tucuman Railway, he sat on the cow-catcher of the engine, to have a good view. While at full speed a mule got on the rails, and came full tilt against the Doctor, smashing one of his legs and inflicting several bruises. We are happy to say that the latest advices report the talented savan as rapidly recovering.

Our circumspect colleague La Prensa gives the following rather important news, which we foreshadowed a few days ago:—"With an insistence which we cannot think has any solid foundation, political circles are talking of a project about to be presented for federalizing the whole province of Buenos Aires. During the day (Saturday) the rumour became more definite, although the holidays were not the most appropriate time for combinations of this kind." Lots of the best wishers of the country would like to see this province federalised.

There was a disgraceful prize fight in New York last month. The World in commenting on it says:—"The two Bowery prize-fighters who made a match for $200 and let "Funny" Cooke, an English buffer, hold the stakes, neglected to hold Cooke. The consequence was that he sailed for England with the money, and the loser of the fight feels a fiendish satisfaction in the discomfiture of the man who whipped him."

The Concert given by the Damas de Misericordia in the Teatro Nacional on Sunday night was a great success, in spite of the unfavourable change in the weather, which was as cold as charity, or a meat refrigerator. The audience was of the creamiest, and the programme was excellently gone through. A military band played at intervals in Calle Florida during the night.

Perez, the porter who stole so much money from time to time from the English Bank in Rosario, is a confirmed Lottery gambler. Some idea of the way in which he "plunged" may be gathered from the fact that, within a brief period, he bought 2,000 pats worth of tickets from one Lottery agent, and 2,400 from another.

We are glad to hear that Mr Cernadas, the respected Municipal who was wounded last week by a man named Balleto, is now completely recovered from his injuries.

We regret to announce the death of old Mr. Gregory, so well-known and respected here when he kept a livery stable, years ago, in Plaza 25 de Mayo. He died on the 4th February, in Chacabuco, from wounds received on the previous day in the house of a man named Carey, who is under arrest in Mercedes Jail. The remains were interred on the 5th February, in the Cemetery at Chacabuco. It is to be hoped that the authorities will strictly investigate this very sad affair. Meanwhile we offer the numerous family of deceased our deepest sympathy.

The Rev. Dr James Smith will preach on Sunday next at the Cabaña, Cañuelas district. There will be morning and evening service as usual at the Scotch Church in town.

DEFENSA

Pildoras Holloway.
Las virtudes de esta admirable medicina son especialmente eficaces para expulsar de la Sangre toda impureza. En los casos de debilidad, ella es incomparable, al paso que cura radicalmente las Indigestiones, y los desordenes generales del Higado, del Estomago, y de los Intestinos, restableciendose, como por encanto, el vigor y la salud normal, dichas Pildoras remueven asimismo las dolencias que suelen adijir a las Mugeres al llegar estas a la edad critica.
Unguente Holloway.
Este incomparable Balsamo sana los Males de Piernas y de Pecho, las Llagas Antiguas, y aun esas Ulceras cuyo orijen no conviene mencionar en un anuncio publico. Para todas las Erupciones cutaneas no hay remedio igual al Unguente Holloway, al que millares deben la salvacion, tanto de sus Brazos y Piernas como de su existencia.
Antes de comprar, examinese con mucha cautela el Rotulo en el Bote o la Caja, para cerciorarse si esta la direccion de 533 Oxford Street, London, pues si no esta, entonces se trata de perpetrar un descarado engaño.
☞ Se invitan a las personas que sean defraudadas por los vendedores que expenden 'Las Pildoras y el Uguento de Holloway' falsificadas para que se sirvan al comunicarme los pormenores, o inmediatamente para formalizar procesos legales contra los Ofensores, y recompensare liberalmente a los Delatores por el trabajo que se tomen, comprometiendome a que no haya trascendencia de sus nombres.
